Why sponsor the Web2forDev Conference?

- The Web2forDev Conference offers a unique opportunity to build relationships with local, regional and international organisations and policymakers committed to improve rural development in the South by using innovative web 2 applications and related technologies.
- 200 conference participants coming from across the globe will be looking for new partners with whom to share initiatives, ideas, knowledge, and skills. Others will seek the opportunity for strengthening and expanding their networks. The conference will be a great opportunity for your organisation to meet key actors face to face and establish relationships with development actors from across continents.
- Your organisation will be showcased by various means. You'll get a unique opportunity to disseminate among likeminded development actors operating in the domain of ICT4D, information about your ongoing and forthcoming programmes and raise awareness on your services and achievements.
